

Students enrolled in Anatomy and Physiology, are given the opportunity to observe the structures of an actual human brain!

Leisure and recreation are always important components in the lives of MSMS students. Catching some rest and relaxation comes in many forms, but one of the most popular is enjoying a beautiful day outside on a blanket with close friends and a little music.

As a student at the Mississippi School for Mathematics and Science, you will be considered a member of an elite group, a group in which each individual shares a common goal -- to achieve success, in whatever form it might come. The bonds you forge here will inevitably remain strong, regardless of whatever path your life takes. Describing life at MSMS is difficult, as the possibilities are endless; and the experiences are indescribable. I invite you to join our family and forever become one more "piece of the puzzle."

A Glimpse Into the Life of an MSMS Student

Brochure designed by Sloane Sparks,
MSMS Class of 2011.

Dear prospective student,

I hope that by picking up this brochure you are manifesting your interest in applying to the Mississippi School for Math and Science, but if curiosity is your only instigator, I still encourage you to continue reading.

To begin, MSMS is a residential high school designed for both the intellectually inclined and the extremely hardworking. We take great pride in our rigorous academic curriculum, spirit of unity, and outstanding performance in not only math and science, but history, language, and the arts as well.

Our faculty and staff are among the best in the country, and each exhibits intense dedication to improving our education.

As you ponder the possibility of enrolling here, a multitude of questions must be racing through your mind. I hope many will be answered after observing a few of the many spectacular aspects that make up the family that is MSMS.

Sincerely,
Your fellow pursuer of excellence

Here at MSMS, we have a wide array of extremely active clubs to choose from. Passionate about another particular topic? Inspire others by creating your own organization and getting involved in the community!

Whoever said intelligence and beauty don't walk hand in hand? These young ladies exude radiance at they present themselves at the Annual MSMS Beauty Revue!

As a student at MSMS, you will have countless opportunities to participate in projects you would never before have even imagined. Last Fall, MSMS students conducted a "mock" 2008 presidential debate. This was an experience I will not soon forget.

Ahhh, lunch time! We chow down at the Marriot (tenderly shortened to the "Rot") on a regular basis. A variety of food is offered from fresh deli sandwiches to scrumptious dessert. (The excessive green clothing in this picture. Was in honor of a friend's birthday. ☺)
